Senators Agree Stock Market Quiz Is Fizzle

factions in the Senate stock market inquiry voiced agreement on two things today: That the inquiry is something of a fizzle and that politics is responsible. Each side blamed the other for injecting politics into the public hearings, now in recess for the weekend. They resume Monday with Board Chairman Benjamin Fairless of the U.S. Steel Corp. as the witness.

Falls Short of Hopes

Chairman Fulbright (D-Ark) of the Senate Banking Committee told reporters he has no doubt the 'friendly study" of market conditions will fall short of the hopes he had for it-hopes that it would inform the country about stock market conditions and maybe shore up some weaknesses

Fulbright said the Eisenhower administration has made it plain there will be no change in its economic policies even if the inquiry points to a need for change.

The Arkansas senator said public reaction to the inquiry undoubtedly will be dampened, too, by "the fact that the Republicans have pinned a partisan label on

"I wouldn't say the inquiry has been wrecked," Fulbright said, but its effectiveness certainly has been diminished by the injection of partisan politics.

4.—The refusal by the eight Democrats -a majority-on the Joint Economic Committee to recommend sweeping measrecommended by Leon Keyserling, the chief economic adviser under President Truman. Instead, the Democrats joined the Republicans on the committee in unanimous report which sounded a few notes of caution but demanded no major action in the direction of tax cuts or more spending. Seven of the eight did write a set of 'supplemental' views, but even these were some distance from Mr. Keyserling's position in left field.

(NEA Washington Correspondent)

WASHINGTON-(NEA) - Any connection between the Senate stock market investigation and the Democrats' proposed changes in the federal tax laws may not be apparent or intentional, but it's there. One of the principal psychological factors behind the present stock market boom is said to be business confidence in the Eisenhower administration fiscal policies put forward by Secretary of the Treasury George M. Humphrey. Expert witness after expert witness before Sen. J. William Fulbright's stock market investigating committee has testified to this effect.

In come taxes were cut ten per cent shortly after the fighting stopped in Korea. The excess profits tax was killed. New depreciation and business expense carryforward provisions were written into the revised tax code.

SPECIAL INCOME TAX deductions were allowed on stock dividends. Selected excise taxes were reduced. Total federal tax cuts for the fiscal year ending next June 30 are estimated at $5 billion. These things plus optimistic statements by government officials on cutting government expenses and promises of further tax cuts next year unquestionably had their influence on boosting stock prices. They are of course not the whole reason for the stock market rise of the last year.

Heavy institutional buying by insurance companies, investment trusts and for pension funds helped bid up prices on the available supply of stocks. Another factor here was that many corporations found it more advantageous to finance expansion on new enterprises by bond issues rather than stocks.

THE THEORY THAT giving tax incentives to business would encourage new stock issues for financing business expansion didn't quite work out in this respect. Also, there was more buyer interest in the old reliable blue chip issues than in new and unproven stocks. The supply of these stocks being lower than the demand, prices were naturally bid up to higher than nor-

What this demonstrates, it is now pointed out, is that tax policies do have their effect on what happens in the stock mark-

So into this situation now steps the Democratic leadership in Congress, under Speaker Sam Rayburn and Senate Majority Leader Lyndon Johnson, with some new tax proposals of their own.

The Democrats propose ending special tax concessions on dividends received. That might serve to make stock buying less attractive.

INSTEAD OF CONTINUING this dividend tax windfall to stockholders, the Democratic leaders wanted to give an approximately equal amount to everyone through $10 and $20 income tax reductions.

On Feb. 21, the House passed its tax bill calling for a $20-a-head tax credit effective next Jan. 1. The Senate by a 50-44 vote defeated a compromise bill which would have provided a tax cut of $20 for each taxpayer and $10 for each dependent other than spouse. The Senate bill as approved carried only the revenue-raising provisions asked for by the Administra-

The bill now goes back to the House which can either accept the Senate version or send the measure to conference to iron out differences.

The Democratic plan would repeal the accelerated depreciation allowed under the 1954 GOP tax bill.

To whatever extent the Republican tax policies contributed to the stock market boom, the Democratic tax plan would therefore have an equal and opposite ef-trunks, or perhaps tied with faded ribbon and reposing in a bureau drawer, are many articles of historical significance - each containing some bit of information that would help complete an interesting and factual picture of an earlier day in Delta County.

It is one of the purposes of the Delta County Historical Society to encourage the preservation of these items, either by the owners themselves or as contributions to the Society's archives.

Charles Follo, president of the Delta County Historical Society, directs attention to the Society's continuing interest in the collection and preservation of any old photographs, letters, documents and other material relating to Delta County's history.

Old Pictures Sought

Members of the Historical Society's collections committee reside at Gladstone, Rapid River and Escanaba. Persons who have material of historical interest are requested to turn it over to some member of the committee, comprising the following members: A. T. BUILD-REPAIR-REMODEL

Bendability Adds To Usefulness Of Hardboard Panels

One of several unusual properties of the building material known as hardboard is its "bendability." In this respect it isn't unio ?, but what sets it apart from msot panel materials that can be bent to simple, one-direction curves is its economy.

Hence, its popularity for constructing semicircular snack bars. curved walls in recreation rooms and even such varied minor projects as wastebaskets, laundry hampers, mail box tops and scores

Without preparation of any sort, cold, dry bends in 1/8-inch hardboard can be made to a radius as small as ten inches. Tighter bends can be achieved if the panels are moistened, and still smaller ones if a combination of heat and moisture is employed.

Probably the most common bend is the one made by fastening hardboard around a permanent form. Nailing starts at one end of the panel, and as it progresses the panel is wrapped further around the form, which usually consists of framing lumber. This is known as a cold, dry bend.

possible by increasing the moisture content of hardboard, the technique of the cold, moist bend is worth while knowing.

There are a couple way of moistening hardboard panels. One two- sides, 72 hours. Data is from man will admit it could have hapis submerge only the portion of the board to be bent in the water not exceeding 100 degrees F., for a minimum of 40 minutes.

If more than one board is to be bent to the same curvature, they should be stacked after dipping in order to equalize their moisture content .

The other moistening method is for boards that are to retain their natural finish or where a tub large enough for the dip method is not at hand. Simply scrub water into the back side of the panels and stack them in pairs with their face sides together separating each pair with rags or newspapers.

subversive activities throughout the world was sounded here Thursday night by Henry R. Russi, of Ishpeming, at the annual Past Master's banquet of Lakeside Lodge 371 F&AM Russi, who is deputy grand master of the Michigan Lodge of Free and Accepted Masons, pointed out that it was the duty of all Masons to assist in protecting the nation, our way of life and our freedoms from these threats.

The speaker, who will become the Grand Master of Michigan Masons in May, is conversant with Masonic activity throughout the world. He was introduced by Arthur Thorpe, of Manistique, worshipful master of the lodge here.

During the meeting Russi paid tribute to past masters of Lakeside lodge and complimented them on the high quality of their work in conferring the fellowcraft de-

ARE THINGS HUMMING AT YOUR HOUSE? Here's a little guessing game each householder can play. It's called How Many Motors? Think you know your house well? Okay, write down on a slip of paper an estimate of how many electric motors you own. A warning—the elusive little things are hard to bring to mind. So mechanized is the American home that most have at least 20. Mrs. Frederick Frost of Pittsburgh guessed high and said 20. By actual count she had 38. There were eight in the kitchen; dish washer, blender, clock, mixer, refrigerator,

Dies In Chicago

A former Manistique resident, Mrs. Gladys Malloy, 56, of Chicago, Ill., died suddenly Thursday night in Chicago.

Mrs. Malloy was born in Manisique June 11, 1898 and had spent most of her life here. A graduate of Manistique High school and Ferris Institute, she left this city 13 years ago

Her marriage to Tracey J. Maloy, who survives, took place in Chicago in 1949. She was the former Gladys McCauley, daughter of the late Capt. and Mrs. D. F. McCauley. She is a former member of St. Francis de Sales

In addition to her husband, she eaves two brothers, Clyde Mc-Cauley, of Washington, D. C., and Dan McCauley, of Muskegon; two sisters, Mrs. A. J. (Blanche) Greene, of Muskegon, and Mrs. Roy (Mary) Codden, of Cadillac

The body will arrive Sunday morning and friends may begin calling at Messier-Broullire Funeral home at noon. The rosary will be recited at 3 p. m., Sunday. Funeral services will be held at 10 a. m., Monday at St. Francis de Sales church and burial will be in Fairview Cemetery.

Tribune Prints Yalta Section

CHICAGO (P)-The Chicago Tribune Thursday published a special 32 page photo - engraved "Yalta Section" a few hours after the voluminous record of the 1945 Yalta Conference was made public in Washington.

To accomplish the journalistic feat, the newspaper put 50 members of its editorial, art and mechanial department staffs on the emergency project.

The special section, containing a complete record of the historic war-time meeting between President Roosevelt, Prime Minister Garden Churchill and Premier Stalin as given out by the State Department, appeared in the final edition of the Tribune.

THE ESCANABA POWER PROBLEM

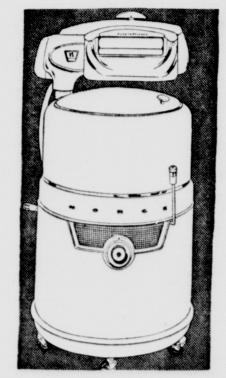

On January 20, 1955 your City Council authorized the City Manager to expend a sum of $500 to be used for advertising facts on the Escanaba Power Problem for general public information. Since then, there have been bi-weekly ads and radio broadcasts in the local newspaper and over the local radio stations.

In order to stimulate public interest and determine what information people were most interested in obtaining, we asked for questions. To date we have answered twenty-four questions in the newspaper and over the radio. Because all answers must be based on facts that are available to us, we have replied only to questions which could be answered in this manner. Our main objective is to enlighten the public by giving them the information they should have before they go to the polls on April 4, 1955.

This ad is sponsored by your City Government and designed to bring the facts to you. Send your questions to the City Manager and answers based on fact will appear in this ad.
